AMHCA News Updates

AMHCA Launches New Professional Development Certifications

The American Mental Health Counselors Association (AMHCA) is pleased to announce that now offers qualified mental health counselors (CMHCs) three professional development certifications: Certification – Clinical Mental Health Counseling Specialist
Certification – Diplomate in Advanced Clinical Mental Health Counseling Practice
Certification – Fellow in Clinical Mental Health Counseling Education and Research

AMHCA is the first association to recognize both advanced practice and professional expertise in clinical mental health counseling. We believe in the current climate advanced practice clinical counselors with specialist skills are in increasing demand. Both the public and insurance providers are looking for counselors who have acquired cutting-edge training and clinical abilities.

AMHCA Partners with Motivo for Online Clinical Supervision

Motivo, the first platform for online clinical supervision, is proud to announce its partnership with AMHCA. By partnering with Motivo—a HIPAA-compliant network for connecting therapists to clinical supervisors for live video supervision—AMHCA members seeking licensure can find a supervisor and receive a discount on their first three sessions of supervision. With the rise of telehealth, many states now allow clinical supervision hours to be obtained online through live video conferencing. That's why Rachel McCrickard, a Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist, created Motivo to provide a more accessible option for supervision.
